Jhalon ka Guda

Exploration gets you going

Situated amidst exquisite natural setting, Jhalon ka Guda is in close proximity to Udaipur. As you walk through the village, you are bound to get captivated by the scenic beauty that encompasses this small village, which is flocked with temples and places of religious relevance. Interact with the villagers and peep into the lives of wheel potters, black smiths, farmers and dairymen. Get enthralled with the rural demeanour and indulge in horse rides and trekking.

What not to miss?

Jhalon ka Guda is a place where you will be delighted to explore the ancient relics of the bygone era. Perched on a hilltop, 2 km from the village is a 700 years old temple of Ratasen Mata, the Deity of Rathod Rajputs. 4 km to the north of the village is located the Ekling ji temple, the sand stone and marble shrine of Lord Shiva who is believed to be the ruler (mythological) of Mewar. Another monumental delight is located some 6 km from the village, known as Nagda. It is a 10th century temple that has beautifully carved statues and intricately carved archways.

What to look for?

While strolling past the narrow lanes and makeshift houses, you will stumble upon small time artisans and craftsmen. Jhalon ka Guda is best explored while trekking or on horseback. Any day in the village, be an observer of the craft created by potters and blacksmiths. You will also be delighted to find villagers preparing cattle food and milking cattle.
