Khejarli

Join the village of green lovers

Welcome to the place where people unflinchingly sacrificed their lives for trees in 1730 AD. Meet the Bishnois, nature loving people and join their festivities and live the village life.

What to look around for?

Around 3 km from Khejarli is Sangasani village, a nice place where you can join the clay handicraft makers and get some great take aways. The water pond in village Guda Bishnoi, 6 km from Khejarli, is the best place to get acquainted with the wildlife of the area. On the way to Jodhpur via Kakani and Salawas, explore local crafts like block printing, pottery making and durry weaving. You can also take a traditional lunch at the village and enjoy a camel ride.

What not to miss?

Don't miss to visit the memorial made in the memory of 363 martyrs who lost their lives saving the Khejri trees in their village. A fair is organised here in September every year. Take a walk by the village pond and watch migratory birds; chinkara and black buck grazing.

Where to stay?
